

Second child hit by vehicle in Waveland

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Within four days of a similar accident, a second child lies hospitalized after being hit by a vehicle along Beach Boulevard in Waveland.

Assistant Police Chief Sandra Henley reported five-year-old Darren Ross of New Orleans walked off the beach at Coleman Avenue Saturday at 5:26 p.m. and stepped into the path of a pick-up truck headed southeast.

Henley said the driver of the truck, a Waveland resident, did not see the boy.

She added the parents of the child were on the beach, and the child was crossing to get a drink from his grandparents who were next to their car parked on the shoulder of Beach Boulevard.

The mother was walking with the child, but he was ahead of her. The mother saw the child stepping into the street and saw the truck coming. She called to the child, but he had already stepped into the street."

No citations was issued.

Mobile Medic transported the boy to Memorial Hospital at Gulfport. A hospital spokesperson reported Ross is in stable condition, is conscious and steadily showing improvement. His injuries include a fractured collar bone, abdominal and head injuries.

Another child, Hannah Shane Redford of Waveland, was hit by a van June 1 as she attempted to cross Beach Boulevard at Coleman Avenue on her bicycle.

Redford remains in critical but stable condition at Ochsner hospital in Jefferson. Last night she is being treated for a closed head injury.

Merchants Bank on Coleman Avenue is accepting donations for financial assistance to the Redford family.

Casino bond issue

Public hearing draws no objections

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

A proposed $100 million industrial revenue bond issue for Casino Magic was given formal county support Tuesday following a public hearing which drew no opposition.

Board attorney Gerald Gex said this is the first in several steps necessary for final issuance of the bonds.

Bond attorney Lucien Bourgeois explained the casino would receive a 10-year tax exemption given as an incentive for local development. School taxes would not be exempt.

He added the property would be deeded to the county for a 10-year period and leased to the casino corporation.

Gex said the terms of that lease remain to be negotiated with the county and City of Bay St. Louis.

Bourgeois commented the lease agreement could require the casino to pay a percentage or fee in lieu of the taxes.

Lee Krick, director of planning and control for Casino Magic Corporation, stated, "The bond issue is just a vehicle to increase short term cash flow, which will provide capital for investment in the actual property and provide future benefits and maintain market position in the long term."

He said for the Bay St. Louis casino to become more competitive in the local gaming market it must appeal to a national and international clientele. Resort developments such as the planned hotel and golf course will attract the overnight visitor compared to the current day visitor business.

Without the change in offerings, Krick predicted a fall in future business for the local casino as the saturation level of the area increases.

Council takes school dist. gift to court

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay St. Louis City Council members voted Tuesday to request a declaratory judgment on a proposed $300,000 gaming revenue gift designated for Bay-Waveland School District employees and supplies.

The action was decided in executive session and approved prior to adjournment of the meeting.

Mayor Eddie Favre stated, "It will be determined in court whether the city can give the monies as designated."

In April the city announced intentions to give $300,000 to the school district. A resolution designated $190,000 for employee pay raises and $110,000 for classroom supplies.

The school district requested an Attorney General's opinion on the legality of the gift since there was no guarantee that the teacher raises could be maintained the following years.

In their response the Attorney General's office prohibited the direct giving of gaming revenues to the school district by the city.

Councilman-at-large James

Rutherford said the council was not backing down on how they wished the monies to be spent.

Council attorney John Scalf said to date the council has not requested that he research the legality of the offer.

He added the council's request equates to the filing of a lawsuit, which would be decided by a judge.

POLICE CARS

The council approved the purchase of eight completely outfitted police vehicles for the Bay St. Louis Department.

Favre estimated total costs at $116,800.

PROPERTY CLEANINGS

Payment of $2,985 was approved for property clean ups.

Tax liens for the cost of the clean ups were approved for five local property owners: John F. Gray, $450; David Sims Estate, $100; L.J. Bridges, $175; and Elodie T. Maurice, $2,260.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Approval for city advertisements were given for: The Sea Coast Echo, Hancock Today edition, $350; the Bay St. Louis exchange student softball team, $500; Bay Athletic Club annual football program, $250; the Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival, $1,500 for fireworks and $500 for the Crab Fest Run; and St. Rose Annual Fair, $50.

BIDS

Bids were opened and placed under advisement for 12 separate public works supplies and the purchase of a new fire department rescue tool.

Dumping of sewage alleged by Bayside Park resident

BY LIZ HAAS

Bayside Park Subdivision resident Glenda Toomey complained to the board of supervisors Monday about people illegally dumping sewage into ditches in the Bayside Park area.

A 1992 Mississippi Senate Bill makes it illegal for homeowners to discharge sewage wastewater off their property.

"People can proceed with building or establishing a residency without any requirement to get a permit because they are excluded from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) regulations," said Toomey.

Toomey said in the last eight months since the passage of the act, she has witnessed people installing drums and running lines to ditches.

"This is being done because they don't have to go to the board of health," she said. Gex said, "That is totally wrong. The Senate bill states that people must obtain a permit from the health department."

She said Board of Health regulation is voluntary. "People are required, but don't have to do it before they establish a residency."

She said a person has to go to the health department to then be subjected to restrictions.

"They do not have to comply with the law," she said.

She asked the board to require people get a permit that requires them to go to the health department.

The board said they believed they had previously tried to make the power companies require a board of health permit before connecting electricity, but the companies did not have the authority in the matter to require people to have a permit.

"Having Bayside excluded from FEMA is creating a pocket in the county where they can proceed with no inspection," she said.

"They can dodge it very easily," said Toomey. "And unless someone reports them, the health department has no way to enforce the law."

She also asked if the board is looking for a centralized sewer

"I want you to include that area to stop people from running sewage lines straight to a ditch," she said.

Acting board president William Seymour said, "We will look into the matter and see what we have done and what we can do."

She also asked if the board is looking for a centralized sewer system for that area and other areas of the county.

Supervisor Robert Peterson said the board applied for a Community Development Block Grant. "There's no doubt we're going to have to do that," he said.

ROADS/TRAFFIC

State Representative J.P. Compere, a resident of Scian Lane in Bay St. Louis, asked the board to include Drinkwater Blvd. in a study the board is asking Southern District Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows to conduct.

The board is requesting Shows conduct a study on traffic at intersections including Main Street and Highway 90, Washington and the highway and Longfellow and the highway, to determine what should be done at these busy intersections.

Supervisor Howard Lizana also requested the board add Highways 603 and 53 to the list.

All were included in the letter to Shows.

Pat Cuculli of the Hancock County Historical Society asked the board for approval of a directional sign with arrows to be placed on Main Street guiding people to the historical society headquarters.

She said, "The Kate Lobrano house is being enveloped by the new Methodist Church building, and we need to be able to see from Main Street."

The board approved placement of a sign that complies with city regulations.

DITCH CLEANING

Fran Cracchiale of Eaden Street, Shoreline Park, complained to the board that her ditches have never been cut or cleaned since she moved there in November 1992.

"This is not my first appearance here," she said. "I have the same complaint that nothing has been done about my ditches."

"I'm concerned with the fifth and stench on Eaden Street," she said.

Cracchiale said she has repeatedly called road and bridge department supervisor Sam Cuevas and he does nothing about cleaning and cutting her ditches.

"Shoreline Park is treated like a second class citizen," she said.

Seymour said the county workers try to clean ditches two to three times a year.

The board asked Cuevas to handle the matter.

She also complained about the mosquito control in the Shoreline Park area.

Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise said, "We've had some problems with that, but we now have a contract and are on it."

Cracchiale asked about casino ty residents receive from the county gaming revenues?" she asked.

Necaise said, "The economy is picking up, and when Bayou Caddy Casino opens, you will really see more benefits; but on the other hand, we have major problems in the county and a lot of these things are going to be corrected."

"What's being done with the money now?" she asked.

"Nothing yet," said supervisor Dolph Kellar.

COURTHOUSE

Toni Larroux, foreman of the grand jury, asked the board to set up a committee to look into the feasibility of renovating the courthouse or getting a new one.

The recommendation was made unanimously by the grand jury.

"We ask you to report to us when the grand jury meets this Thursday," said Larroux.

Peterson said, "We're trying to find some funds."

BIDS

The board opened bids for the construction of a new pre-manufactured metal engineered building for the Leetown Fire District to be used for Leetown Fire Department.

The bids were from Vic Black Construction for $42,545 and Dillard Construction Co. for $41,841.

The board approved to take the bids under advisement with the Hancock County Fire Chief.

The board awarded the bid for financing of four trucks purchased by the county to the lowest bidder, Hancock Bank, at a rate of 4.25 percent.

Harold Heine, county inventory clerk, received approval to have three items declared junk, a copying machine and two computers.

The board authorized Seymour and Necaise to sign the Solid Waste Management Act and a lease between the county and Bay Area Youth Soccer.

The board approved to take under advisement the Mississippi Association for Supervisors pay raise scale. It includes a 10 percent salary increase for county court judges, court reporters, tax assessor/collector, prosecuting attorney, supervisors, justice court judges and the county medical examiner.

ON PATROL

MURDER

Frank Anthony McKinley, 33, of Bay St. Louis, who was arrested and charged for the Monday evening murder of Darrell Robinson, 30, of Bay St. Louis, is being held in the Hancock County Justice Facility without bond, according to Bay St. Louis Police Detective Terry Eley.

McKinley's original bond of $100,000 was revoked upon discovery that Tennessee authorities wanted him for a parole violation. Eley said he was on parole for attempted murder.

The Bay Police Department received a call June 7 at 6:44 p.m. in regard to a shooting at the intersection of Washington and St. Francis streets.

"Upon arrival, officers found Robinson had been shot in the hip," said Eley.

Witnesses reported to the officers the perpetrators fled down Washington Street toward Highway 90 in a black Mercury with a dark maroon top.

Eley reported, officers stopped the vehicle on Highway 90 just above Bayside Park at 6:57 p.m., and found a revolver, believed to be used in the shooting, on the front floor board on the passenger side.

Arrested with McKinley were Bobby J. Smith, 36, of Bay St. Louis, and Shannon Austin, 22, of Waveland, who were charged with accessory to murder after the fact. They are being held under a $10,000 bond.

The victim and murderer were arguing on the corner in what started out to be a quarrel and ended in the shooting," said Eley.

After being shot once with the .38-caliber revolver, Robinson died an hour later at Hancock Medical Center.

Bay officers on the scene were Phillip Pavolini, Ernest Taylor and Richard Fayard. Detective Shane Corr is in charge of the investigation.

He added Casino Magic/Bay St. Louis, compared to other area casinos, has the benefit of land for the necessary market expansion.

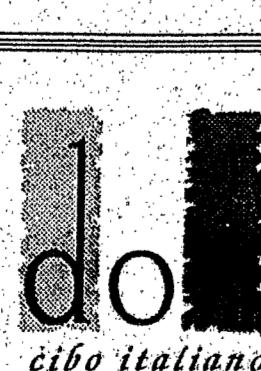

Gex stressed the county "in no way, shape or form" will be financially responsible for the bonds.

County resident Johnnie Richards requested the board enact a statute requiring a specific percentage of casino employees reside in Hancock County.

Krick said over 20 percent of the casino's current employees are residents of Hancock County, and it is already part of the casino's licensing requirements to make exemplary efforts in hiring Mississippi residents and natives.

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is so good to get away from work for a week's vacation and have a good time.

Last week Jane and I celebrated our 30th wedding anniversary with a cruise in the Caribbean on the Severign of the Seas. Traveling with us were Harold and Alice Masson of Waveland.

June 1 was our 30th, and we celebrated by shopping in the morning in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, and later by attending a night club show in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

As the cruise ended last Saturday, we were ready to go for another week, but had to get back to reality.

The only problem we encountered was a delay at the Miami Airport because of severe thunderstorms.

The cruise was fantastic, the best ever for us, and the food was great.

As a matter of a fact, I am now in the process of trying to walk off about eight or nine pounds I added on during the week.

We saw a lot of beautiful water in the Caribbean, water like I would like to see in our Bay, yet I know this isn't possible.

It was rather cool when we left home and were welcomed by hot and humid weather when we returned. It seems summer moved in fast.

Myself, I cannot wait until our next cruise.

A special Blood Drawing will be held on Tuesday, June 15 in the parking lot of Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis for resident A. J. Monti.

Mr. Monti, who is well known, has been seriously ill for some time and has used a number of units of blood during this crisis.

The special drawing will be from 2 to 8 p.m. next Tuesday, and I am hoping there will be many who will give a unit of blood.

I know there are many who like to fish along our shorelines during the summer months.

These individuals should be aware that they need to have a saltwater fishing license as of July 1.

Cost of a saltwater recreational license is $4 per year and can be purchased from the Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources or from a registered license dealer. They are the same where one can purchase a freshwater license.

July 1 is also the renewal date for freshwater licenses.

Good luck fishing, and don't forget the licenses come July 1.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Diamondhead resident is happy to be there

To the Editor:

I write this letter in response to a letter printed in this paper on May 30 signed by Sylvia Smith.

I am a fairly new resident (1½ years) in Diamondhead, and I would like to state that apparently Mrs. Smith and I do not see things from the same point of view.

I have found Diamondhead to be a warm, friendly and well-organized community. Mrs. Smith herself has been friendly to me. This fact discounts her statement of 100 percent of the people she is around being anti-Diamondhead.

I was very active in the community I moved from. I was involved in the business world as well as social and community affairs, so therefore I feel qualified to make an educated judgment of this community.

I do not say that Diamondhead is a 'Utopia,' but the positive certainly outweighs the negatives.

I sincerely hope all of the residents and property owners of Diamondhead will look at these positives and enjoy them. In turn, if they find a negative feature, try to find a solution as a responsible adult and not in an irrational manner.

Happy to be here!

Price of entertainment at Buccaneer is piracy

To the Editor:

It should be remembered that Buccaneer State Park was a 16th Section county school land.

Every citizen had an invested interest in this land.

The county sold it to the Mississippi State Park Commission with a trend in thought that it would be a valuable tourist attraction.

Jean Lafitte was a pirate chief, and Buccaneer Park is well named.

Odile R. Carter
Bay St. Louis

cock County/Bay St. Louis, I invited my daughter and two grandchildren, 11 and 4 years of age, to have a day at the park.

When they got through with our money, I was sure Jean Lafitte and his crew were there.

I paid $9 to watch the children paddling around the wave-pool and $7.50 for each one to get wet.

Food for thought: Is this the way to treat citizens of Hancock County trying to entertain their grandchildren?

Waveland's finest

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

By Governor Kirk Fordice

Veterans should be rewarded rather than penalized for having served their country

To many of those who have never served in the military, it is a common misconception that a disabled career military veteran will receive retirement pay in conjunction with VA disability compensation. If you happen to be a disabled career veteran or know one, you are aware nothing could be farther from the truth.

Unfortunately, military retirees are the only group of federal retirees who must waive retirement pay in order to receive VA disability. For those who are not familiar with the current offset, it doesn't take long to discover the inequities.

Under the current law, which was written in the 1800's, two federal retirees with the same disability who have worked the same number of years in federal service are treated much differently.

For instance, if two veterans were rated 100 percent service-connected disabled, but one served for two years while the other served 20 years, the career veteran would have to waive his retirement pay in order to receive VA disability.

The travesty is that the military retiree must pay for his disability benefits from his retirement check. But the civil service retiree can receive both his civil service retirement and his VA disability.

Career military retired veterans are the only group of federal retirees who are required by law to waive their retirement pay in order to receive VA disability. Is it fair that two federal retirees with the same service-connected disability suffered in the same battle who worked the same number of years in federal service are treated differently? I think not.

That is why I recently cosponsored a bill which would reverse the injustice that has burdened our disabled career military veterans for much too long. The "Military Retirement Equity Act" would establish the right of a disabled military retiree to receive at least some portion of his earned military retirement.

In general, the more a retiree is disabled the more retirement pay he would be able to keep. The program would work something like this: A veteran who is 80 percent disabled would have to offset his retirement pay by the amount equal to 20 percent of his total VA disability.

Service members who have made the ultimate sacrifice to our country should be able to receive compensation for their injuries above their military pay. I am hopeful that this Congress will reward our retired veterans rather than penalizing them for having served their country.

State government heroes at work for Mississippi

One of the greatest pleasures I have as governor is the opportunity to appoint and work with some of the most dedicated and talented private citizens ever to serve in Mississippi state government.

We know that making changes after 117 years of one-rule government would be difficult, but these professionals in our administration have lived up to every challenge. They work diligently with little recognition which is why I would like to share with you some of the things they're doing.

Gregg Phillips, interim executive director of the Department of Human Services — Mississippi is at risk of losing millions in federal funds because we have one of the highest error rates in the country in the processing of our social services.

It's no wonder we have such a high error rate given the fact that Mississippi social workers have the highest case loads in the country — with some employees serving more than 500 families.

The problem has been money directed to a to-heavy administration with little emphasis on direct services to the people of Mississippi.

I appointed Gregg Phillips to go out and clean up this and other problems at that department, and his reaction was action. Last week, Gregg announced that 220 new welfare eligibility and social workers would be hired at that department and put in place at the "frontlines" of human services work in every Mississippi county.

An announcement like this usually means more of your tax money going to that agency to pay for these new employees — but not in this case. Gregg has saved $3.5 million over the last three months in administrative cuts, and those savings will be used to pay for these new workers. By the way, you may remember Gregg Phillips' name, he's the one columnist Bill Minor said was "youngish" and "greenhorn."

Dr. Briggs Hopson, physician — Health care is an issue that is getting a great deal of lip service right now in Washington with the anticipation of the president's health care program. Mississippi has learned the hard way, however, not to wait on the federal government to solve our problems for us. For this reason, I asked Dr. Briggs Hopson of Vicksburg to head the Governor's Commission on Health Care.

The 31-member commission consists of state legislators, public health officials, hospital administrators, insurance officials, nurses, doctors and private sector experts from across the state.

Under my executive order, the commission will have the full authority to review existing programs, data, research, and other information it deems necessary. Members of the commission will have an Oct. 1 deadline to submit to me strategies for addressing the cost, financing, access and delivery of health care in Mississippi.

To give you an idea of the workload of Dr. Hopson and his commission, the members met last week for seven hours straight, and this will continue every week for the next four months.

Gerald Gafford, Mississippi's first-ever inspector general — After unsuccessful attempts to get assistance from other state officials, Forrest County authorities turned to Mississippi's inspector general to review the possibility of gathering millions of dollars in back taxes for the Petal School District.

General Gafford's research and cooperation with county officials and private citizens interested in the matter resulted in the Attorney General's office reversing an earlier opinion that forbid the collection of back taxes from the five companies operating underground storage facilities.

Gene Shoemaker, one of the Petal residents involved in the case, told the Hattiesburg American, "I don't think this ever would have been accomplished without the intervention and help of Gerald Gafford."

Many state officials balked at the idea of having a state inspector general, saying such a watchdog would be a duplication and unnecessary.

I think Inspector General Gerald Gafford has already proven his naysayers wrong by getting personally involved in a case where local officials and private citizens had nowhere to turn because they were unable to get proper assistance from state officials — the very state officials that said an inspector general was a waste of time.

These three Mississippians, and many more like them, have joined your government and are defining every day the distinct difference between a "public employee" and a "public servant."

STREET TALK

What do you think the county should do with its share of gaming revenues?

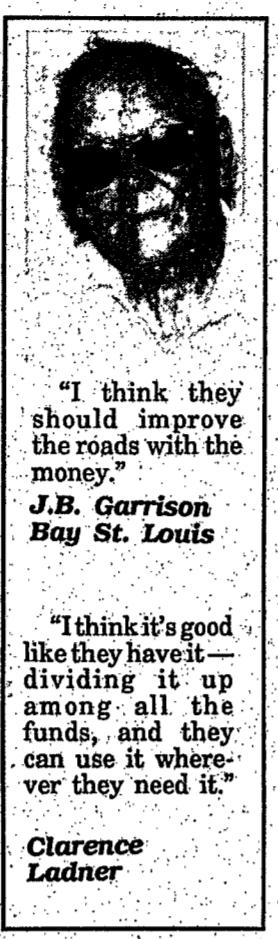

"I think they ought to finance their own casino, then they won't just get the revenues, they'll get it all. If not, then they should spend the money on sewer systems for the lower front areas and canals, because there's so many vacant lots you can't build on. They should also build up the roads in those areas."

Mark Gryner
Bay St. Louis

"I think they should give it to education and more specifically, the teachers, because we've been on the bottom of the scale too long, and it's time to come up to the southeastern average."

Marilyn Smith
Bay St. Louis

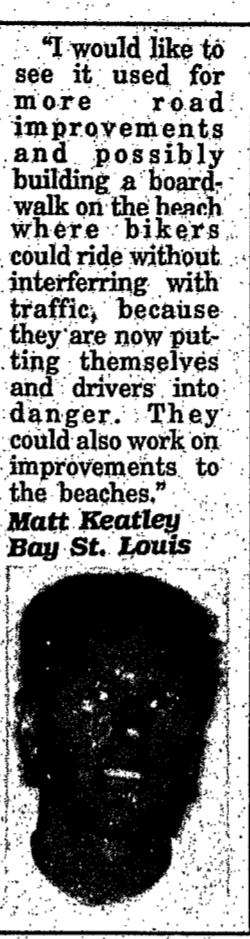

"I think they should improve the roads with the money."

J.B. Garrison

"I think it's good like they have it—dividing it up among all the funds, and they can use it wherever they need it."

Clarence Ladner

"I would like to see it used for more road improvements and possibly building a boardwalk on the beach where bikers could ride without interfering with traffic, because they are now putting themselves and drivers into danger. They could also work on improvements to the beaches."

INITIAL PUBLIC HEARING

The City of Bay St. Louis, MS is considering applying to the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development (MDEC) for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) for the 1993 FY. The State of Mississippi has been allocated approximately $36 million to be funded on a competitive basis. These funds must be used for one of the following purposes:

1. To benefit low and moderate income persons;
2. To aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
3. To meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

The activities for which these funds may be used are in the areas of public facilities, housing and economic development. More specific details regarding eligible activities, program requirements, maximum grant sizes and the rating system will be provided at a public hearing which will be held at City Hall Annex, 111 Court St., Bay St. Louis on June 21, 1993 at 2 p.m.

The purpose of this initial public hearing will be to obtain citizen input into the development of the CDBG application. Written comments are welcome and should be submitted to the City Hall Annex, attention: Mike Cuevas, no later than three calendar days after the initial hearing.

Municipal clerk training

Input sought on shorter school day

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Bay-Waveland School Superintendent Paul Tisdale is seeking parental input on a proposal to change afternoon dismissal times, primarily affecting the elementary and middle schools for the coming school year.

The proposal's intent is to provide less time on the bus per student; separate age groups for discipline purposes; and increase driver availability.

"We are tossing around the idea for the coming school year and I would like to know what the parents think and how it would affect their schedules," Tisdale stated.

The proposal is to dismiss all elementary and middle school children at 2:30 p.m., reducing the school day by a half-hour. The junior/senior high school students may be dismissed at the regular time of 3 p.m. or 3:05, extending the day by five minutes.

Elementary and middle school children would be bused home first. As buses complete the elementary routes, they would travel to Bay High to assist with transportation of the older students.

Tisdale said one foreseeable problem is older students responsible for the care of their younger siblings after school, who would arrive home after the younger children—causing a supervision problem for working parents.

An advantage would be, no child would ride the school bus longer than 30-35 minutes.

The proposal would not affect morning routes.

Tisdale commented, "We are at the preliminary stage and want to be sure of all parental concerns. Those concerns will determine whether or not to pursue transportation changes."

The superintendent asked that parents submit comments and suggestions in writing concerning the proposal no later than Thursday, June 17.

Comments should include name and phone number and be mailed to The Bay-Waveland School District, 201 Carroll Avenue, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520; or hand delivered to the district office.

Unemployment rate decreases

Hancock County's unemployment rate decreased in April, but exceeded the state's rate for the second consecutive month.

MESC announced a 6.8 percent unemployment rate for Hancock County for the month of April, 6.6 for the state of Mississippi and 6.8 for the U.S.

March rates were 7.1 percent unemployment for Hancock County, 6.9 percent for the state and a 7.3 percent rate for the nation.

In neighboring counties rates were: Harrison County remained at 4.8 percent; Jackson County rose from 5.9 in March to 6.0 in April; Pearl River County went from 8.1 to 8.0; and Stone County's rate fell from 8.9 to 8.5 percent.

The civilian labor force in Hancock County rose by 80 persons, bringing the total to 14,300, leaving 970 unemployed.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

LAISSEZ BON TEMPS ROULEZ

Put on your dancing shoes and come join Ruth and Charlie Olivier as they teach us to line-dance at the Community Center every Tuesday afternoon at 2.

The Oliviers are new residents in Diamondhead from New Orleans where their dance group have performed at the Jazz Fest, conventions and parties.

The music is great, and you'll recognize the tunes, as these folks teach you step by step, slow, slow, until you catch on.

It's so much fun, and gets your adrenalin going, which is good for all of us. If you like to tap dance, these folks are cloggers, too!

DIAMONDHEAD SQUARES

While on the subject of dancing, don't forget that the Diamondhead square dancing group meets every Tuesday, 7:30 at the St. Williams Church, and they invite couples and singles to join them. Please call 255-5732 for information.

SENIORS DAY

All you senior ladies and gentlemen, spend your Friday mornings visiting with friends, doing crafts, having a nice lunch at the Bay St. Louis Senior Citizens Center. A bus will pick you up at the Diamondhead Dairy Queen every Friday morning at 8:30, returning about 1:15 p.m. A little shopping, if you like, is included on the way home. For more information, call 255-1317.

NEW CLUB

The Diamondhead Women's Club is off to a great start. They plan to do lots of good things (fun things, too) in the community with their main focus and the proceeds from fund-raising events going to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association.

Under the leadership of Terri Downie, the group had its second meeting Wednesday, June 2, 10 a.m. at the Community Center. Some 40 ladies attended, and the hope is that there will be 50 or more members come September.

Donna De Weese, executive director of the Mississippi Coast Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association, gave a brief talk and showed a film explaining some of the facts about the disease.

There is an active support group that meets on the third Monday evening of each month from 6-7:30 in the dining room at Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

For help and advice, call the help line at 867-6251.

After the meeting the ladies went to lunch at Casino Magic, and it was suggested that some try their luck at one of the progressive slots with the proceeds (winning of all who purchased the $10 chips) going to the Alzheimer's Association.

Over $200 was won by these lucky (and generous ladies) for a wonderful cause.

The club will not meet in July and August, so are planning a jazz brunch for members and guests for Sunday, June 27, 11:30 a.m. at the Day's Inn. The menu sounds scrumptious at $14 per person.

Send your checks for reservations to Gloria Bowers at 10513 Bayou Circle, Diamondhead.

DIAMONDHEAD KIDS

Our Diamondhead youth population is growing and growing, and we need to plan activities for them.

Get involved and come to the next DYO meeting on Monday, June 14 at 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

Plans for the expansion of the E. Rec. Center will be discussed. This very worthwhile organization needs the input of all the community and welcomes it at their meetings.

CAUTION!

There are a lot of kids out there this summer riding on motor bikes, scooters, even dad's golf cart, that need to be polite and safe drivers on the streets and paths of Diamondhead. Enjoy your vacation, and please be careful!

SUMMER CAMP

For a $5 fee you can participate in a bridge marathon on Thursday, June 17 at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center. Proceeds will help send a diabetic child to camp. Please call Joel at 255-9308 for more information.

ST. THOMAS

St. Thomas Episcopal Church is offering a 'Spirit Quest' for individuals and groups. Call 255-9213 for details.

SHIP SHAPE UP

Attention, all boater and aviation pilots. On Wednesday, June 15, 7 p.m. at the Community Center, the Bay-Waveland Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will be host to guest lecturer M. McConnell Jr., who will speak on "Ditching and Survival" safety program.

Tips On Writing

EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

► STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

► BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyer's trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

► SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

► THE BOTTOM LINE

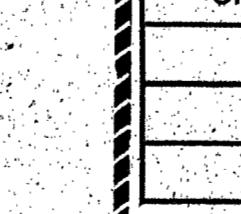

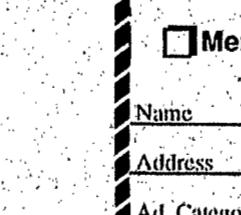

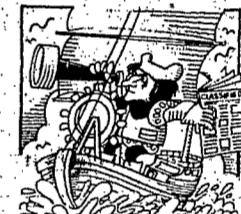

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

► BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

► ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Last week I promised to give y'all some more information about the Bay-Waveland Elks fishing rodeo, so let me lay it on ya' right cheer.

The rodeo started June 1 and is very unique. Several people have asked me if I made a mistake, because I stated the rodeo would end Nov. 8 with the awards ceremonies to be held Nov. 21.

Come on now, the Turtle only makes mistakes when he talks about the size of the fish that he catches or about the size of the one that got away. When it comes to things that you can win money on, the Turtle is a little slow sometimes, but the information is usually pretty close to accurate; most of the time, once in a while, occasionally, whatever.

Anyway, the grand prize for the rodeo is $100 American money, with $50 for second, $35 for third and $15 for fourth.

Now get this, you get to weigh your own fish on an accurate (?) scale anywhere. Then you fill in the card that you get when you pay your fee of $2 and mail or hand deliver it to the Elks Lodge or to Ross Burke, Weighmaster, P.O. Box 30, Waveland, MS 39576. Burke's phone number is 467-1372. Hopefully there will not be too many new Coast, state and world records set for new fish weights.

The fish that are eligible for this rodeo are bass, catfish, drum, flounder, croaker, king mackerel, queen mackerel, red fish, red snapper, sheepshead, white trout, speckled trout, jacks, jills and shark. I am not really sure what size the queen mackerel or the jills have to be to enter the contest.

Flotilla holds safety program

The Bay-Waveland Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will host a guest lecturer, Richard McConnell Jr., who will present a safety program, "Ditching and Survival."

The lecture will be at the Diamondhead Community Center on Wednesday, June 16, at 7 p.m. Admission is free, however, space is limited, so it is suggested to make reservations by calling Frank Gasper at Waveland.

The week-long camp, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, will include learning BB shooting, archery, nature, crafts and outdoor sports games. Also special guest visitors will be at the camp during the week.

The camp will be at the 255-4274.

For persons who venture out over open waters, this lecture will provide the necessary information to improve chances of surviving in the case of abandoning ship or ditching while awaiting rescue.

The lecture was developed by McConnell, who is a long-time member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Cub Scout Day Camp held

A Cub Scout Day Camp will be June 14-18 for the four Tiger Cub units in the area.

Four packs of cubs from ages 6-10 include Pack 78 (St. Clare), Pack 208 (American Legion Post 139), Pack 220 (Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis) and Pack 630 (Latter Day Saints Church in Waveland).

The week-long camp, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, will include learning BB shooting, archery, nature, crafts and outdoor sports games. Also special guest visitors will be at the camp during the week.

For more information or to sign up call Susan Adams at 467-4788.

Dinosaur expert visits zoo for free lecture

World-renowned dinosaur expert Dr. Peter Dodson of the University of Pennsylvania visits the Audubon Zoo on June 14 for a free lecture on the modern approach to paleontology. His talk is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the CNG Learning Center Auditorium at the zoo.

11 p.m. (next to McDonald's)

Elks Fishing Rodeo offers many chances to win

This looks like a fun-type of rodeo, and because it extends over so many months there is no excuse not to enter. You can't say they weren't bitin' today because there are plenty of tomorrows.

This week I got to talk to some "neat" kids on the Ladner pier in Waveland. Ryan Ralph (12) and Leah Peluso (10), Zack Peluso (12), Alex Murray (9), all did a big-time number on the croakers fishin' off Mr. Herbie's corner on the pier. It seems they drew a big-time crowd when they caught about 150 croakers in less than an hour's time.

I am reliably informed (by the Ranger) that they did not catch that number offish quietly. As a matter of fact, the Ranger was sure that the laughing, giggling and screaming was heard all the way to Hwy. 90. Even tough most of the croakers were too small to keep and were thrown back, the kids still had themselves a real mess of fish to take home for supper.

The Ranger informed me that Sunday night at least 10 teenagers spent the night on the Ladner pier. It seems that not only did their parents feel that the youths were safe, but that they had a full night's entertainment catching big Gafftop catfish. Some of the Gafftops weighed more than 15 pounds. This same night William Hudson of Waveland caught two 43-inch red fish, as well as four or five other reds that were keeper size.

The really big time event so far this season happened this past week at the Ladner pier. A Manta Ray was caught at the pier. The ray was estimated to be about five feet in diameter. It took about an hour and one half to get the ray to shore. During the time of the fight one of the really nice things happened. The person who caught the manta let everyone who wanted the experience to fight the fish for a while do to. This is another reason why I always say that the Ladner pier is a family place.

While I am still on the subject of the Ladner pier, let me tell you that the fees have not gone up from last year. It is still $12 per year for a family (husband, wife, minor children), or $3 per day on a daily basis. There is still a ranger on duty 24 hours a day.

Bordages Fish Camp and LaFrance now have live shrimp.

Live hard and soft shell crabs are now available at Bob Metz's place, located in the first house off Lakeshore Road on Pleasure Street.

This week's wonderful wise words: It's time to go fishin' y'all.

I wonder if they have a category for Giant Bluefin Tuna Sharks in that rodeo, turtle?

Tropical plants bring summer color to state

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

One of the nice things about the arrival of summer weather is that it permits us to successfully grow and enjoy flowering, tropical plants.

The plants I'm referring to include hibiscus, mandevilla, allamanda, plumeria and bougainvillea. We'd grow them in our yards throughout the year if we could, but because of their sensitivity to cold, our enjoyment is limited to summer when these plants thrive.

Hibiscus are probably the most popular of these plants, and the most commonly associated with the tropics (Hawaii). Hibiscus are normally large plants, and are popular in summer for placing on sunny patios, decks and around swimming pools.

Hibiscus in large pots or tubs put on a show of fresh, brilliant-colored flowers every day of the summer. Hibiscus like sun, fertilizer and water. Never allow them to dry out because leaves and flower buds shed if they do.

Some of the popular varieties are Agnes Gault (large, single pink), Brilliant (large, ruffled bright red), Crown of Bohemia (double yellow), Fiesta (single bright orange), Kona (double pink), and Vulcan (single velvet red).

Mandevilla likes moderate levels of fertility and should not be allowed to dry out. A trellis of some type is necessary for support so the plant and its flowers can be appreciated.

Allamanda is a relative of mandevilla (same plant family) and is also native to tropical America. The flower shape is similar to mandevilla, but the flower color is bright yellow.

The plant is described as being an erect, clambering shrub (somewhat vine-like). Again, fertilizer and water are important for success with this plant.

Perhaps the least known of the summer flowering tropicals is plumeria. Plumeria, mandevilla and allamanda are members of the same plant family (Apocynaceae), native to tropical America.

Bougainvilleas often are sold as hanging basket plants. This woody, vine-like plant can be grown on a trellis or as standard (single-stemmed plant with a bushy top).

The flowers are small, but the colorful bracts make these plants real traffic stoppers.

With plenty of moisture and fertilizer these plants may remain vegetative and be considered a disappointment. However, they can be brought into bloom by cutting back on the water.

A disappointed gardener offered me a plant last fall that hadn't bloomed all summer. It bloomed twice this past winter in my office following two dry periods when I withheld water for about a week. Many of the leaves yellowed and dropped. When I resumed watering, the plant put on new leaves and flowered.

Plumeria is popular in Hawaii where the fragrant flowers are used to make the popular flower leis. Also known as frangipani tree, plumeria can get quite large and is not the ideal house plant because of its size. The flowers may be white, pink, various shades of rose, salmon, gold or red.

Plumerias are not difficult to grow if their basic needs are met. These include regular watering, fertilizer and sun.

Mandevilla, sometimes labeled as dipladenia in the nursery, is a woody vine with large, deep rose, tube-like flowers. Grow them in the sun and in a large pot if you want to overwinter them in your house.

You can plant directly in the soil if you don't plan on trying to carry the plant through the winter. Use a soil consisting of equal parts of peat, loam soil and sand.
